

FREE Starter: 10 AI Prompts for Teaching Kids About Money

Money Nobody Taught You, Teen Edition: Homeschool Money Prompt Pack

How to use these prompts

- Paste a prompt into any free AI chat tool (for example ChatGPT, Claude, Gemini, or Grok).
- Replace anything in [BRACKETS] with your details.
- Always check numbers, tax facts, and Scripture references yourself. AI can make mistakes.
- These prompts teach timeless principles: work hard, give first, save always, avoid debt, and be content.

Starter prompts

1. Act as a homeschool curriculum planner. My child is [AGE] and we have [WEEKS] weeks. Build a week-by-week money-skills plan covering earning, giving, saving, spending, and avoiding debt. One 30-minute lesson per week, with a Bible verse for each theme.
2. Explain compound interest to a [AGE]-year-old using a story about planting seeds. Include one hands-on activity using coins or beans.
3. Teach the 'tithe, save, spend' habit using a three-jar activity. Include a script I can read aloud.
4. Design a 'family store' game where kids earn chore tokens and shop with a budget. Include rules and a price list.
5. Write a 10-question quiz on [TOPIC] for age [AGE] with an answer key and a short explanation for each answer.
6. Write a family devotion on generosity based on 2 Corinthians 9:7, with 3 questions and a giving challenge for the week.
7. Make a step-by-step checklist for opening a teen checking account: what to ask the bank and what fees to avoid.
8. WORKFLOW 1 - Weekly lesson in 15 minutes: (1) 'Give me 3 lesson ideas on [TOPIC] for age [AGE].' (2) 'Expand idea #[N] into a 30-minute lesson with an opener, a teaching point, an activity, and a closer.' (3) 'Write a 5-question quiz and answer key for it.' (4) 'Make a parent script I can read word for word.'

9. Create a vocabulary list of 20 money terms with kid-friendly definitions and an example sentence for each.

10. Create a goal-setting sheet for a teen saving for [ITEM] at [PRICE], with weekly targets.

Want all 52 prompts, 5 step-by-step workflows, rubrics, and printable activities? Get the full pack:
[STORE LINK PENDING APPROVAL]